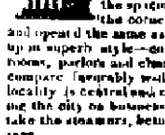
COMMERCIAL HOTEL,

Corner of Wall and Water Streets.....Bangor



THE subscriber would respectfully give notice to his friends and the public, that he has taken a lease of the spacious and elegant building on the corner of Wall and Water streets and opened the same as a Hotel. It has been fitted up in superb style—contains several fine suits of rooms, parlors and chambers—and altogether will compare favorably with any hotel in Maine. Its locality is central and convenient for persons visiting the city on business, and for those intending to take the steamers, being near the steamboat landings.

Child-Birth Made Easy.

TO MOTHERS.

YOU who are expecting to undergo the serious and important duty of bearing offspring, reflect upon the trials, troubles and dangerous risks that are before you; and then learn, that by the gift of Providence and the light of Science, a sure remedy for these consequences is known; by the use of which thousands are now performing the duties of Mothers with ease and safety, and with a perfect freedom from all pain in subsequent travail.

This remedy was discovered by the celebrated Dr Bordeloque, of Paris, and has been in use in France for the last ten years with the greatest success—being approved by the Royal Academy of Science in Paris. Dr A C Mortimer, is the sole agent for the U S., and he sends this medicine by Mail, to any part of the Country, and the Genuine can be obtained of no one but him.

Price Two Dollars a package, containing full directions.

Persons desirous of obtaining this Great Remedy, who reside at a distance, can do so by forwarding Two Dollars post-paid, to Highly Important to Farmers.

HAVING purchased the right to use LOMBARD'S Method of making MANURE in all the towns in the County, not previously disposed of, west of Penobscot, and south of Passadumkeag, rivers, I am ready to sell the same, by towns or individual rights, as may best suit purchasers

When it is taken into consideration, that one ton of dry straw may, in the space of 10 days, be converted into from six to eight loads of such nutritious manure fit for corn-sills;—that green vegetables and turf can be made into manure of equal value, in ten days—and that the high temperature produced by fermentation destroys all obnoxious seeds, this invaluable method may be fairly considered as forming a new era in Agriculture! That the foregoing results have been frequently realized by Bommer's process, I am prepared to show by testimony from scientific and practical farmers in various sections of the country.

Single rights will be sold for the moderate price of four dollars, and the purchaser will be furnished (gratuitously) with a book describing the process of making the foregoing; together with many other kinds of compost manures, hitherto unknown in this part of the country. To those who purchase by towns, or to private companies, my terms will be as low as in any other section of the State

Persons at a distance, by forwarding four dollars (post paid), will be promptly furnished with a single right and book as aforesaid.

PATENTS.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE And Agency of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington

22 State Street—Boston.

THE subscriber, by appointment from the Commissioner of Patents, is Agent from the U. S. Patent Office for the purpose of receiving and forwarding to the same all such models, specimens of ingredients, and compositions as shall be intended to be patented, or deposited therein, which will be received and forwarded, free of expense and risk, to their owners, and with all possible despatch. The subscriber will prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings, will make researches into American and Foreign works, for establishing the validity or utility of inventions, and render advice on all legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at this office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. The experience of fifteen years' practice—an extensive collection of rare works, documents, decisions, &c. on mechanical subjects and the Patent Laws—and patents of different countries, collected at much expense during the long time his office has been established, and to which daily additions are being made, together with accounts here kept of inventions patented at Washington, enable me to afford important assistance and information to inventors desirous of securing Patents, which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

Whig and Courier.

John S. Hayward,—Editor.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 10, 1848.

☞It is among the cruel things in this world to see a facetious imp to what his leaders and his party are driven for an issue in the approaching campaign. These cousins with the war, has entirely thrown them from two of their late issues, and which, indeed, they unwisely made an "idiosyncratic principles" we mean Free Trade, and the Sub Treasury. The party leaders have been trying to humble up an issue that the Whigs were trying to have our troops withdrawn from Mexico, and the great contest, that was to issue and the genuine democratic principles, and to keep the troops in Mexico! This requires statements so absurdly artificial that it wont stand alone. They are as yet undetermined what issue to make, unless, indeed, the Washington correspondent of the Charleston Mercury has hit upon it. He says, in reference to the probable issues in the next Presidential campaign, as we find him reported in the N. Y. Tribune, for we have not the Charleston Mercury, Free Trade will never do, because in the Empire State in which the Treasury, &c. sources be placed, if not a ready placed." He says the Sub Treasury will not do, because the Government paper is soon to be at a discount of 20 per cent—says the internal improvement question will not answer—but will the War be a sufficient issue, and finally tells us, what is to be the question on the following paragraph:

"The broad paved plotters, there fore, went in to council, and after some days' deliberation, came forth with the scheme of the total conquest of Mexico, and its admission into the Union. A desperate issue, to be sure, but nothing to be dreaded by those who suppose themselves to have nothing to lose, and every thing to gain. And I assure you that such was to be the great issue before the country, unless the politicians of the rank and file of the party should intervene to prevent it."

This precipitate and unceremonious disclosure of the designs of the plotters very much disturbs the equanimity of Mr Ritchie, who changes the Mercury correspondent with all sorts of misrepresentation, and waggishly refers it "to the President's Message—to the authentic and able speech of Mr. Sevier—to the course of the Administration, &c., for the refutation of this idea. But before he concludes the paragraph acknowledges the corn as follows:

"We are not likely to adopt it as our war cry yet we have little doubt that the Whigs intend to make this an issue against us, but they will be blown sky-high in the process."

☞The Portland Empire made allusion a few days since, to the trial of a Captain Barnes, on duty and mentioned his connection in some way with a custom house which we understood to be the Portland Custom House, but have since learned that the reference was to be Custom House at Wiscasset and not Portland. The affairs of the Wiscasset Custom House, are, it is said undergoing investigation at Washington and whatever is wrong there will be remedied. It is much to the credit of the Portland Custom House that its management is well spoken of by the opposition press in that city, and it is certainly a source of regret to us that we should have misunderstood the allusion of the Empire and thereby have been led to suppose that the Portland people were under suspicion, instead of being as we are happy to learn they are, not palpably above such, but beyond suspicion.

☞Among the wonders of the times is that of a Miss Parsons, who while really in or pretending to be in the magnetic state, describes with singular accuracy the individual whose letter she may hold in her hand. It seems that the sphere of the letter, through magnetic influence, impresses the mind of Miss Parsons with the distinctive peculiarities of the subject of her investigation. It is said that she has analyzed the character of Alston, Daniel Webster, Gov Briggs, and others with singular acuteness and fidelity.

☞The Worcester Spy states that fruit trees can be budded as well in the spring as in the summer. The cuttings should be taken, some as for grafting, and carefully preserved till the trees are so far advanced that the bark will slip free; when the buds may be cut out and inserted in the usual mode. To make success the more sure a slight coating of grafting wax may be used; but the stock should be cut off a few inches above the bud. As soon as the bud commences growing, all the natural buds near it should be kept rubbed off.

☞News from St Jago and Mayari, state that there has been a terrible hurricane and flood, at those places. This calamity occurred on the 17th and 18th of December—and large numbers of dwellings, cattle and crops were swept away by the wind and swollen rivers. The tobacco crop, in those districts is entirely destroyed. Great numbers of people were left houseless and ruined.

☞The New York Tribune states that Rev H W Beecher of Brooklyn preached a very impressive sermon on Sunday last, at the church in Cranberry Street, on which he took occasion to censure in manly language our war on Mexico, terming the assertion on our part that the war was for the purpose of civilizing and Christianizing the unhappy and down trodden Mexican, as sheer hypocrisy and a blustering infamy upon us in the eyes of all true and honest Christians.

☞The funeral of F Temple Wheeler Esq. was attended yesterday at St John's Church, by the Freemasons, Sons of Temperance, and the Bangor Catholic Temperance Association. The Church was thronged and the services were very impressive.

☞The number of posts in the United States is estimated by the Chronotype at 8,000. Greece and ought one. This shows the fertility of one soil when ponderable is added to it.

EXPEDITION TO MOUNT KATAHDIN.

Here, at being nearly noon, we dined on a cabbit, and other sufficient rest, resumed our course up the stream as the most unfettered route. Now in the solid water, now from rock to rock—and then on the bank, we soon made the recent warm work for perhaps one mile and a half. The way was romantic enough, and scarcely tried our sides. About four P M, we came to get among the short growth, and found Spuhrtown. At five o'clock, we reached the foot of the southern slide, and encamped. To find blueberries so plenty, large, and sweet, in the middle of September, and at the close of a tolerable march, was a joyful circumstance. It being inconvenient to remain over the Sabbath, we put the camp in good trim, and tried to reap from a contented mind a congenial feast. From this place we could see most of the surrounding country—red lakes, rivers, mountains, and valleys. The lake we passed the day before seemed at our feet.

Thankful for providential care, we betook ourselves to rest for the night. But it was hard work to make a moment of sleeping. Despite the fire, a draft of the night air would occasionally remind us to go and

Here I would remark on the description of our guide, in combining more correctness, than one can imagine who did not observe what was said before.

On Saturday one thing we rose at an early hour to realize the object of all our toil, to behold the hardships, or enjoy the pleasures that might come in our way.

I attempted the whole work at half past more, or less correct, but did not rise enough to hinder leaving. All his power to look at the atmosphere—so that Sunday seemed made for our special benefit. The sun rose clear and warm. Not a cloud ranged about the mountains, nor a mist by morning's dawning. At eight o'clock we entered the slide at the point where we left it the night before, and found it very different places from the top of Katahdin. The ascent is mostly steep, though not difficult, or dangerous at all when once taken. On most a ledges of the mountain there is a short tangled growth of alder and witted birch coming up between the rocks. The scathering kept down by the winds, grow often an almost impassable bramble. At a distance it has a beautiful smooth appearance, like a recent growth of hay. All up what is of the ocean may called a "piece of oats." The slide moves on a path up through all this tangle—reaching to the top of the southeastern ridge of the mountain, which—a shove a timber growth, shaking about one to six of the whole perpendicular height of Katahdin, to which the ascent of the break below would add another third.

Although it was a hard climbing, we ascended pretty fast, and the clear morning gave an unbounded ble beauty to the prospect below.

The most pleasing was the constant change and variety, caused by our rapid ascent. It was interesting that one mountain at this season of the year, is fragmented by tears in pursuit of cranberries; but we did not see any, though our guns not had exposed silence, in hopes to obtain a shot. It remained with the rear to see all up safe. The most serious "short ahead," and up a spell on our legs, and I near the head of the slide, we heard them from the distant topmost peaks calling out "come on, ye brave"—At this distance they looked very small in stature. From the head of the slide we turned to the left, and ascended a northwest to the first and most eastern peak—by this time our comrades had reached the second summit. We here joined in the new acquaintance. It is perhaps the most favorable spot for surveying the whole structure. From thence the prime pal peaks are in a curved line—going southwest, then west, and northwest. The second peak called by us, the "Chimney," near the first, but separated by a sharp cut one hundred and fifty or two hundred feet deep, and nearly square in its form. We both were out of ammunition, or this summit, now we ought and have attempted the ascent—He zeal seemed to blind him to danger, for when questioned on our return, he could positively tell when, or how he ascended. Our first plan was to pass around to the base without going over the top. But this we found impossible, and hence about to give up, when our spirited out a ridge and course where, by taking a few pretty long steps, he thought we could ascend. I tried first and succeeded, and all followed but two—From the "Chimney," we went from one hummock to another, making on the whole a gradual ascent, till we reached the middle of the principal peaks, a distance of nearly a half mile from the base. In our course down, on our return from the western peak and all sat down to rest. Here, we found a monument that had been erected by some former visitor, but was overgrown with lichens, apparently long as if it had seen no relations for years. On the first and most eastern peak, all the monuments which I had made the year previous, looked new and fresh. It is not easy to decide which of the two, (the west or middle peak) is highest. Judgment, was given in favor of the middle one.

While sitting on the south side of the monument at 12 o'clock we put the thermometer in a favorable place, and I went up to 84°. At the same time, on the north side, and six feet from us, water was freezing, and the snow dry and crusty. Near by the monument a rock stood in the natural position, forming a sharp peak to the top. This was the highest one of the eight. Of them about four inches were broken off, and one of the company carried it home with the conjecture that we had lowered the height of Katahdin to that amount. About two P M, we returned to the eastern peak. It may be well to name here, and take a resurvey of the scene thus far presented, and as much more as can be viewed from this spot.

From this eastern peak, a spur rushes out eastwardly one mile. A half mile down, however, it divides, and a branch runs to the northeast, the same distance. On the southwest across the cut in the "Chimney," from this the line of peaks and mountains curves to the west till it reaches the middle, and its highest peak. From the base of the mountain, there are all thirty ryds of narrow pass. Some of these are so narrow that a man could drop a stone from either hand, and it would go to unknown depths below. In some places, the only possible way is over the top and only one foot wide—For a great part of the time the wind blows across these passes so violently that the stones themselves have to be firmly fixed to keep their places. It seemed remarkable an advantage for us, that the day of our visit was still and quiet. From the middle peak the link curves to the northwest to the further mountain.—From this point a branch makes down to the northwest, having on it some extensive table lands, one in the top ridge, or curve turns directly north with the ridge to the bottom of the "sag" we come upon a wide flat which runs nearly a half mile and stretches out to a considerable width. At the no there extremity of the flat, the edge curves to the east and rises to a peak about equal in height to the eastern peak of the northern wing. This is probably the highest of the southern peaks, from which a spur makes down a little south of east to within one quarter of a mile from the stone that comes from the southern wing. All this nearly includes a deep basin with walls, almost perpendicular, and in some places apparently two thousand feet high.

To survey the bottom of this Basin I have since made a separate journey. It contains perhaps, two hundred acres covered with large square blocks of granite that seem to have come from the surrounding walls. These are in all six lakes and ponds varying in size from two to ten acres. One of these, I measured on size, the 15th of October.

From the outlet onward to the southwest, is about a mile, where there is a small lake or pleasant water which has no visible outlet. So far as I can learn, I was the first human visitor to this sacred residence of the Indians' Pamolah. It is no strange that a superstitious people should have many traditions of his wonderful greatness kept away from close engagement with us by a line. When we reach the place on our way to Katahdin, it is said to be the "abode of all the fairies in a storm, and where the Polar monarch has his chief residence in Maine. We called to each other across the Basin and echo answered, "where!" in earnest. The air was exhilarating, as may be supposed, but the effect not as sensible as we anticipated.

The whole party returned to the head of the slide at three P M and engaged in picking cranberries. These grow on all parts of the mountains above the timber region, and in some annually yield many thousand bushels. They grow in vines among the rocks and are commonly called the mountain, or highland cranberry. They are smaller than the meadow cranberry, but of a better flavor.

[To be continued in our next.]

☞It is lecture before the Lyceum last evening was delivered by Rev Mr Springer, on his favorite subject, Astronomy. Mr Vose of Augusta who was expected to lecture was prevented by ill health.

Interview between Henry Clay and General Cass.

The Washington correspondent of the New London Morning News says, of the interview which lately took place between Messrs. Clay and Cass at the capital.

Mr. Clay and General Cass exchanged the customary civilities quite cordially. After some preliminary conversation, Mr. Clay remarked, "I was in the Senate yesterday, and there I heard you pressing your measures upon that body most earnestly," (probably referring to the bill to increase the army in Mexico). "My dear sir," said Mr. Clay, most earnestly, "the earth has gone on, for God's sake do nothing to destroy this glorious country. Take no step to hang Mexico upon this country. But, the moment the Mexican Republic is annexed to this government, but moment our Union, our government, is destroyed for ever. We want peace—want an end to this war." Mr Clay spoke most earnestly, and with much feeling.—General Cass seemed to be somewhat disturbed for a moment, but remarked, "Mr Clay, we both want peace; we only differ perhaps, as to the best mode of obtaining it. I might not agree with you in your views as to the effect the acquisition of Mexico might have upon our country, but inasmuch as I am not in favor of annexing Mexico we need not differ in our views on this point." The conversation turned to former acquaintance, associations, &c. General Cass and his friends then took their leave.

A striking case of the use of chloroform is reported to have occurred at Washington. It was administered to a boy some years of age, the small bone of the leg was in a state of decay.—It was completely removed by a surgical operation, the boy not having been sensible of any pain, and emerging from the insensible state without injury.—Com Adv.

No one can be healthy or happy without labor of some kind, bodily or mental, and no one has a right to a lease of this life earth for three score years and ten, unless he pays his rent, and a fair equivalent, too, and one whose acceptance he expected it, they or their executors, have neglected to comply with this great condition.

☞The Washington Union states that a grammar of the Ingassag language spoken by the negroes of Gibbons, western Africa, and lately reduced to a written system by the acknowledge of the American Board at their station, have been printed with movable characters, in New York at the expense of the board. This grammar exhibits the wonderful fact, that these naked savages are possessed of a language rising by the force to copiousness and flexibility.

BY THE LAST MAIL.

Later From Havana.

Mexicans and Peace.—Later from Yucatan.—Ship Carlton abandoned.—Mexican Ambassador favoring peace negotiations.

New York, 7½ o'clock,
Sunday, Feb. 13

No Congress yesterday.

An accident has occurred on the Reading Railroad by which one man was killed and three others badly grously wounded.

Later news from Havana has arrived way of Vera Cruz, which states that a majority of the Mexicans are favorable to peace.

There is later intelligence from Yucatan.

The Indian disturbances continue.

The British Mail steamer Dee, at Havana, reports that she boarded at sea on the 22d of January, the ship Ceylon, from London, for New Orleans. She was abandoned, and the water was up to her hold beams. She sprung a leak on the 16th of January, blew up for Bermuda, go pilot aboard, and got to leeward, but could not keep the ship free. On the 16th the crew abandoned the ship at sea and landed at St George's.

A report prevails at Washington that a letter has been received from Mr Mehinton, at Mexico stating that the Mexican authorities were favoring peace negotiations.

Col Bowie and Cass Johnson addressed a Taylor meeting on Tuesday.

A broker, named Trap, disappeared from Wall street yesterday forenoon, taking with him forty thousand dollars. One party lost nine thousand dollars. Trap came here about two months ago from New Orleans, has a wife and child of the Astor House. He is known to be in the city, and will probably be arrested tonight.

Prospect of another Battle.

A letter received by the Richmond Republican, dated at Buena Vista, 17th of January, announces that another battle was in anticipation at Buena Vista. Gen Santa Anna was at Quanajuato at the head of 6,000 Mexicans; that 3,000 more were at San Luis, and 3,000 at Durango; and the State of Zacatecas had raised 13,000 more making in all, some 21,000 or 22,000 troops. To meet this formidable force, the Wool had about 4,000 men all told; but extremely well prepared and in the highest state of discipline. The writer of the letter expresses the strongest confidence that with the little army, General Wool could easily defeat any 20,000 Mexicans who could be brought against him.

A movement was in progress by the Mexicans to attack Gen Wool at Parras; and a counter movement was anticipated by a portion of Gen Wool's troops, to take the attacking column in the rear.

Santa Anna had fled from Arequipa, and it was thought he had broken forever with Mexico, but he has evaded at San Blas, and it may be his purpose to retire or, lay to retrieve, his fortunes in this region, supposing us very weak. Certainly, however, find even a better equipped army than met him on the glorious field of Buena Vista.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON Feb 11.

SENATE—

Mr C aylon presented a memorial from Middleton Rogers, praying compensation for services rendered in the war with Mexico, accompanied by a history of his long imprisonment.

He moved that the memorial be printed and referred to the Military Committee.

Mr Hale objected. The Senate had refused to print two several times large bodies of Christians praying for peace, and why print a private memorial?

On motion of Mr. Turney, it was referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr Crittenden reported back the resolution of thanks to Generals Taylor and Scott, recommending its adoption.

Mr Crittenden moved to take up the question of its passage.

Mr Hale objected. No captivity could separate a soldier and, the unprobation of the conduct of the officers from approbation of the war itself.

Mr Butler and Mr. Underwood replied in support of the resolution and Mr Hale responded.

On motion of Mr Allen it was passed over informally, and the Special Order, the Ten Regiment Bill was taken up.

Mr Turney spoke in favor of the bill. He contended that the Whigs had shifted their position in regard to the cause of the war. In 1847 the Whigs held that the annexation of Texas had produced the war. Now they allege that annexation was not the cause. He went on at great length to show that the annexation of Texas was the cause of the war. Mr Breese obtained the floor, and the Senate adjourned to Monday.

The House went into committee of the Whole on private bills.

The bill for the relief of the heirs of Paul Jones coming up

Mr Stark weather of New York opposed it. He said that they vessels captured by Paul Jones were surrendered to Great Britain; having been taken into Denmark, and were therefore no more or pecuniary benefit to the United States after ten months had passed.

Mr Holmes of S C. spoke in support of the claim. He was followed by Mr Root of Ohio, against the claim.

Mr Rockwell of Ct, said the whole amount was only a share of prize-money to which Commodore Jones was entitled—$24,000 and interest, and not the enormous sum named by some gentlemen. Adjourned.

In the House, the following message was received from the President of the United States by the hands of his private Secretary:—

To the House of Representatives of the United States:—In answer to a resolution of the House of Representatives of the 7th inst, I transmit herewith a report from the Secretary of State. No communication has been received from Mexico containing propositions from the Mexican authorities or commissioners or a treaty of peace, except the counter project presented to the Mexican Commissioners to a Commissioner of the United States, on the 6th of September last, a copy of which, with the documents accompanying it, I communicated to the Senate of the United States on the 22d inst. The copy of my communication to the Senate, embracing the project, is herewith communicated.

JAMES K. POLK.

Washington, Feb. 10, 1848.

Mr Niles, in his late speech in the Senate on the Ten Regiment Bill, among other things said that the popular phrase "nationality for the press and security for the future," is of English origin. It was first used by Wm. Pitt, when he plunged England into a twenty years war.

"Does the righteousness of the present age exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees?"

An aged, bald headed teacher told an impudent boy the story of Elijah and the bears. When he had done, the boy said: "Go up, bald-head—now bring on your bears!"

☞Our people are now enjoying the best kind of winter weather.

A pickle spoken woman recently visited a married woman and said to her, "how do you manage to remain so happy together?"

"Because" said the other, "do you not know that I have all my housework to do?"

"Eee," replied the first, "but to it is never done. I conclude you find some other way of passing your time."

When do we begin to love people? When they begin to let us look into their hearts, and their hearts are found to be worth looking into.

As soldier in battle happening to have a cannon ball passed over his head and took off the head of the soldier who stood behind him. "You see," said he, "that a man never loses by politeness."

The prime system, as now administered in Philadelphia, allows more than fifteen minutes a day of solitude imprisonment to each convict.

A maiden lady "down east" lately advertised for a package to make sweets, as she never yet had a "woo" she that would bear keeping.

WORCESTER'S UNIVERSAL AND CRITICAL

Dictionary of the English Language

BY JOSEPH E. WORCESTER, LL. D

One volume, 8vo. sheep, 1002 pages....Price, $3.50.

THE PUBLISHERS respectfully invite attention to the following eminent testimony to the excellence of the Standard Dictionary.

The execution of this Dictionary fully answers to its title.

The VOCABULARY is probably more comprehensive than that of all preceding English Dictionaries united.

Constant reference is made to AUTHORITIES with respect to words newly introduced, and care is taken to note such as are technical, foreign, obsolete, provincial, or vulgar.

The DEFINITIONS are clear and exact, and those pertaining to technical and scientific terms are specially valuable to the general reader.

The author has evidently bestowed great labor on PRONUNCIATION. His system of Notation, which is easily understood, and founded on a more complete analysis of the vowel sounds than are here elsewhere met with, together with his plan of exhibiting all the best English authorities in relation to words differently pronounced by different orthoepists, gives to this work important advantages as a Pronouncing Dictionary.

In ORTHOGRAPHY, he has made no arbitrary changes; but where usage is various and fluctuating, he has aimed to be consistent, and to reduce to the same rules words of similar formation.

The insertion of GRAMMATICAL FORMS and INFLECTIONS of words to a much greater extent than they are given in other English Dictionaries, and the short etymological notes on the orthography, the pronunciation, the grammatical form and construction, and the quality, technical, local, and American uses of words interspersed through the volume, give to this work much additional value.

The copious VOCABULARY OF MODERN GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES, with their pronunciation, and a greatly increased and improved edition of Walker's Key to the pronunciation of Classical and Scripture Proper Names, are important appendages to the Dictionary.

A year has passed since this Dictionary was published; and its already extensive use both among cultivated English readers, and men of wide reading, affords good testimony of its merits. We confidently recommend it as containing as ample and careful view of the present state of our language.

JARED SPARKS, LL. D. Mc Lean Professor of ancient and Modern History, Harvard University.

JOHN McLEAN, LL. D., Justice U. S Supreme Court, Ohio.

MOSES STUART, D D Professor of Sacred Literature, Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass.

EDWARDS A. PARK, D.D. Abbot Professor of Christian Theology, Theological Seminary, Andover Mass.

LEONARD WOODS, Jr., D. D. President of Bowdoin College.

N. LORD, D. D. President of Dartmouth College, N. H.

I conscientiously recommend the following portions of this above recommendations—not having had leisure to examine all the particulars referred to

LEVI WOODBURY, LL. D.
Justice U. S. Supreme Court, Mass.

From a general and frequent reference to this Dictionary, in connection with the best English authors, I fully concur in the general merits of the work, and regard it as a very valuable aid to science.

Mutual Benefit Life Insurance COMPANY.

—OFFICE No 2 GRANITE BLOCK, EAST MARKET SQUARE - - - BANGOR.

THE affairs of this Company are in the hands of business men favorably known to the community, who have permission to refer to the following gentlemen in Boston:

Hon J. G. Rogers, Esq'r S. Appleton, Esq.,
Hon. S. Fairbanks, Messrs. J. E. Thayer & Bro.
Rowe, G. Shaw, Esq., Johnson Bowles & Co.,
and to the following Gentlemen in Bangor:
Hon Ezekiel Kent, Charles Hayward,
James Hodsdon, Joseph Bryant,
Gen. S. P. Strickland.

The Company offer the following advantages:

1st. When the premium is over $ 5 by dollars annually, one fourth may be paid in cash, and three fourths in a secured note, at twelve months, with the per cent interest, or at once be paid half yearly, quarterly, or annually.

2d Parties taking life policies, pay only fifty per cent. of premiums as at, and those taking policies for a shorter period, and paying sixty per cent. a year, (if over fifty dollars per annum) may give their annual notes for the balance, if safety to do others.

Whole number of policies issued, 32 months, to the last of January, 1848, 415.

Whole amount of premiums thereon, $14,314 82.

Dividend of profits, January 1847, 35 per cent.

This Company has now been about 2 1/2 yrs in operation and it is a gratifying circumstance, that its progress has fully realized the principles adopted for its management, and does far more than realized the most sanguine expectations of its friends.

The remarkable amount of business, which is without a parallel in the history of Life Insurance, shows that it is gaining in public confidence, and that there is an increased disposition in the community to avail of its benevolent operations.

DR. UPHAM'S

Vegetable Internal Remedy

FOR THE PILES!

A Cure for Life Secured.

For the cure of Piles Inflammation of the Lungs and Scrofula Inflammation Soreness & Ulcers in the Throat Sore Eyes Ringing and Blue Inflammations and Mercurial Rheumatism Liver Complaint Worms &c Inflammation of the Stomach Bowels Kidneys and Bladder and all complaints arising from Mercurial Affections.

THIS VEGETABLE PREPARATION is made by Dr Upham of Boston and Physician of New York, is the only really sure cure for the piles for which agency I am now making sales at the oldest established stores in the principal cities throughout the American continent.

Dr Upham's INTERNAL REMEDY—has never been known to fail in curing any case of piles however long or severe it may be, and is unquestionably the only cure for the piles with which the public are acquainted. It is also a sure cure for the worst case of scrofula or king's evil, and is also a sure cure for all diseases arising from mercurial affections, or from the use of mercury in any form. It is also a sure cure for all diseases of the throat, such as sore throat, ulcers in the throat, sore eyes, ringing in the head, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver, such as jaundice, &c. It is also a sure cure for all diseases of the stomach, bowels, kidneys and bladder, and all diseases arising from a disordered state of the blood.

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD

For all impurities of the blood arising from the use of mercury or from the present use of Sarsaparilla or any other Sarsaparilla or from any other cause, this is the only sure cure ever discovered. All other vegetable remedies in all the United States are entirely inadequate and ineffectual, and from the very nature of its discovery it is impossible that any other vegetable remedy can ever be discovered that will cure the piles.

REMOVING THE CAUSE, renders the cure PERMANENT AND PERMANENT.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES

Although this VEGETABLE MEDICINE is principally prepared for the cure of the piles, it is also a most powerful remedy for the cure of all inflammatory diseases such as inflammation of the lungs, inflammation of the throat, inflammatory rheumatism, and in fact for the cure of all inflammatory diseases in any part of the system, whether internal or external, and for the cure of all diseases arising from a disordered state of the blood, such as scrofula, king's evil, ulcers, &c. It is also a sure cure for all diseases arising from a disordered state of the liver, such as jaundice, &c. It is also a sure cure for all diseases of the throat, such as sore throat, ulcers in the throat, sore eyes, ringing in the head
